To the Palace

Pingala's father had observed his son working hard to make the seed sprout.

He felt sorry for Pingala. 'Why don't you go to the king with the empty pot?' he asked. 'At least he will know, you tried your best.' So Pingala too put on his best clothes and started off to the palace.

He joined the others outside the palace, holding the empty pot in his hand.

The other children laughed at him, but Pingala ignored them.
